Tap into the short side of the market

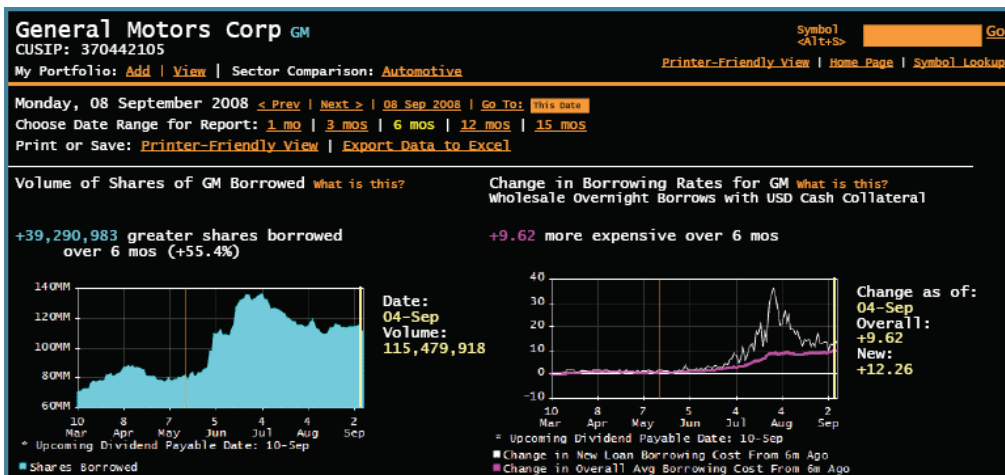

With ShortSide.com, Astec Analytics provides short selling market color and analytics to investment management professionals.

Stock exchanges in the United States offer short interest data only twice a month and with several days lag, leaving investors in the dark regarding daily short selling activity. ShortSide.com fills this void with daily up-to-date information from the global securities finance market, and enables users to gauge changes in investor sentiment.

What value does ShortSide.com add to your trading strategies?

- Market color to make better informed execution and trading decisions:
 Determine whether millions of shares of a stock have already been borrowed and shorted before executing your trade. Easily monitor trends and trend reversals in short selling activity.
- Risk management insights:
 Protect against possible short squeezes by monitoring changes in borrowed shares. Use this information to be one of the first to cover a short before an identified impending squeeze.
- Compare similar stocks in any sector:
 See whether a stock has been shorted more or less than its peers in its respective sector.

What are the key features?

- Relevant: Data regarding the short side of the market for thousands of equities and bonds.
- Timely: Updated by 7:30 am New York time each morning with current stock borrows as of market open.
- Intuitive: Graphs and tables that are easy to interpret and manipulate.
- Customizable: User-definable watch lists.
- Historical: View and/or download up to 15 months of daily data.
- Fast: Quick response times to crucial pre-trade queries.
- State-of-the-art: Database infrastructure and application design - 100% built, owned and maintained by SunGard.
